Priceless Printing Art Forms Put Into Toronto Incinerator

TORONTO (CP) — A collection of 583 pieces rated among the best examples of typography in the world has been accidentally dumped into a city incinerator along with about 9,500 less valuable pieces, it was learned today.

No dollar value could be placed on the collection, called Typomundus 20, because it consisted of art forms that aren't bought and sold. For that reason, said Hugh Michaelson, of Toronto, executive chairman of the project, no company would insure it.

The 10,000 pieces, collected from among 200 typographic designers in the world, had been stored in a midtown rented room since last October.

An unidentified landlord is said to have mistook the collection for junk and sent it to the incinerator after someone neglected to pay him $35 monthly rent for the room.

The International Centre for the Typographic Arts in New York and the Toronto-based Society of Typographic Designers of Canada began assembling the collection in 1963.

The groups planned to exhibit the best pieces in New York in April. Samples of its work published in a book were to go to the International Book Fair at Leipzig in East Germany in June.

Balcer Accuses Tory Leaders Of Turning Blind Eye To Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — Leon Balcer, the Conservative Quebec leader, has accused his party's "national leadership" of turning a blind eye to the social, economic revolution in Quebec and distorting the aspirations of French-Canadians.

Mr. Balcer said the Conservatives could "pourish an anti-Quebec backlash" among English-speaking Canadians if they continue to express "parochial, unreasoning criticism" about certain policies of the Liberal government.

His remarks were contained in an outspoken letter dated Jan. 15 and sent to Dalton Camp, Toronto advertising executive and president of the Progressive Conservative party. Text of the letter was released in the press today by Mr. Balcer's office here.

The letter lists arguments by the 10 Quebec Conservative MPs to back up their demand of last week for an early party convention where the rank-and-file could challenge Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's continued leadership and his policies.

The letter does not mention Mr. Diefenbaker by name, however. It was written the day after the 10 Quebec MPs met privately in Montreal to discuss their future in the party.

Since then, 10 Conservative MPs and residents of Quebec have joined in calling for a leadership convention. Another 24, polled by The Canadian Press, opposed a convention now. There are 96 Conservatives in the 265-seat Commons.

SOME ITEMS TAKE THE CAKE

Room For Art's Sake . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want the latest in modern art for your living room, you'll have to find space for works such as:

Three lifesize white plaster figures of a rock 'n' roll drummer, guitarist and girl dancing the twist.

A piece of "chocolate" layer cake seven feet high made of plaster and vinyl.

If you feel such works might belong in another room, consider this:

Washington Has A Ball . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bit tired but beaming, President Johnson celebrated his inauguration at all five of his jam-packed inaugural balls. But he had to admit:

"Never have so many paid so much to dance so little."

It was an exuberant evening for the first family and for Vice-President and Mrs. Hubert Humphrey.

In fact, Humphrey became so exuberant at one point that he wished for success and happiness for the administration in the next four years "and then we'll continue on for four more years."

But when someone in the crowd, remembering the vigorous Humphrey campaign, shouted "Give 'em hell, Horatio," Humphrey grinned and said "not tonight."

It seemed every one of the expected 50,000 went to the dances at the National Guard Armory and the Mayflower, Statler-Hilton, Shoreham and Sheraton-Park Hotels.

Johnson was grateful and told the crowd at his final stop—the Sheraton-Park ballroom:

"This has been a great day and a great night."

Briton Killed In Malaysia

Major Keith Milner, a British army officer, was killed while Brig. Tunku Ahmad Bin Tunku Besar Barahuddin, commander of the "east brigade" of Malaysian-Commonwealth forces in Borneo, was injured. The pilot of the helicopter and three other persons also were injured.

Meanwhile reports that a two-engine propeller plane was ditched in southern Malaysia touched off new invasion jitters.

Throne Speech Outlines B.C. Medicare Program

VICTORIA (CP) — British Columbia's Social Credit government today announced plans for a voluntary medical insurance program aimed at low income groups to be operated through private insurance plans.

The announcement was a highlight of a 3,250-word speech from the throne read by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes in opening the 1965 session of the B.C. legislature.

The speech also forecast an amendment to the revenue act in connection with the investment by my government in the shares of chartered banks.

Asked about this, in view of the denial by the senate of an application for a Bank of British Columbia, Premier Bennett declined comment except to point out the plural reference to "banks."

The speech also forecast increased educational grants, measures to facilitate creation of "model communities in newly developing areas of B.C." and "further reductions" in power rates by the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The throne speech said the provincial government "has for many years strongly advocated the institution of a national health plan."

"Since it now appears that the government of Canada is not prepared to put such a plan into effect at the present time, my government will ask you to consider legislation to provide for government contribution to a fund toward the cost of medical insurance services for citizens whose incomes are at lower levels.

"Such assistance would be granted in connection with approved medical plans and would be on a voluntary basis."

Premier Bennett told reporters the limited medicare plan will be aimed at those who are not on social assistance, yet have incomes too low for them to afford the full cost of medical insurance.

"This is a large group," the premier said, "and the government contributions will run to many millions of dollars."

Asked how many people would probably be covered under the scheme, the premier replied: "I regret greatly that the federal government has not proceeded with a national health plan after its longstanding commitments," the premier said.

The Throne Speech also proposed amendments to the Pollution Control Act; changes in the Land Act to permit the leasing of Crown timberlands for agricultural development; amendments to the Mineral Act, "changes and additions" to the Petroleum and Natural Gas Act tabled at the last session; amendments to the Public Schools Act and the Vocational Schools Assistance Act.

Several Amendments Proposed To Pollution, Lands, Mine Acts

The government also announced widely-mooted plans for a new 23-mile extension of the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Kennedy Station to the southern arm of a lake to be created by the Portage Mountain Dam on the Peace River.

Other proposed measures included regional parks legislation, amendments to the accounting provisions of the Companies Act "to further the position of shareholders" and changes in the Credit Unions Act to strengthen inspection procedures.

New changes in the Succession Duties Act will provide unspecified "additional exemptions."

An amendment to the Revenue Act at the last session provided for the government to purchase up to 25 per cent of the capitalization of the government-sponsored Bank of British Columbia.

Bennett Renews Percentage Pledge In "Killed" Bank Of B.C. Investment

The proposed investment was criticized by senators when they were asked to approve a bill giving the bank of B.C. a federal charter, and the bill was killed in the senate's banking committee.

Asked whether the proposed amendment would carry out the government's promise to the senate to keep its investment in the Bank of B.C. within 10 per cent of capitalization, Mr. Bennett replied:

"It may go beyond that."

The throne speech also said MfAs will be asked to approve a bill which would "greatly augment" provincial probation services.

The speech said the government has given probation services a close study during the last year "mindful of the necessity both to protect society as a whole and to restore to useful citizenship the greatest possible number of persons who might otherwise be charged upon the penal institutions of the province."

Much of the speech was a statement of government policy and dealt with developments in the province in 1964 and an outline of continuing government projects.

Freighter Sinking In Pacific - 30 Of Crew Take To Boats

HONOLULU (AP) — The 442-foot Liberian freighter San Nicola radioed today it was sinking 770 miles northwest of Honolulu and the 30 men aboard have taken to lifeboats.

Two planes and a ship responded to the distress call.

The 7,242-ton vessel, bound from San Francisco for Formosa with a load of scrap, first messaged at 2:25 a.m. that it was breaking up.

The U.S. Coast Guard said another message at 4:12 a.m. reported those aboard were "now in lifeboats."

A coast guard plane was dispatched from Barbers Point naval station near Honolulu and was believed already at the scene. The U.S. Air Force also sent a plane.

The nearest ship in the area was identified only as the Maria. It headed for the scene. There was no immediate report on weather in the area.

The freighter, owned by Sere Steamship Company of New York, left San Francisco Dec. 31 for Formosa by way of Los Angeles.

"I Was Very Much A Layman" Says Dorion Inquiry Witness

MONTREAL (CP) — Guy Masson, a witness at a bribe or extortion inquiry today, testified that he was "very much a layman" at the time of the Dorion inquiry today that he did not know last summer whether the extradition of Lucien Rivard could be prevented.

Masson said all he did in the Rivard affair was pass along word to Raymond Denis, at that time executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, that $60,000 was available for the Liberal party election fund if Rivard was not extradited to the United States to face charges in connection with a narcotics smuggling case.

Yves Fortier, counsel for Pierre Lamontagne, suggested that after last July 6 Masson and Denis decided that Rivard had to be released from jail on bail "at any cost."

Masson replied that he did not know what Mr. Fortier meant by the words "at any cost."

He said there never was any question between him and Denis at that time of a bribe or extortion with the Rivard case.

Mr. Lamontagne is counsel for the United States justice department which wants Rivard extradited. He has testified that Mr. Denis offered him a $20,000 bribe to agree to Rivard's release on bail.

Mr. Fortier asked how, with $60,000 in hand "were you going to go about preventing Rivard's extradition?"

"I had no idea whether we could or couldn't prevent extradition," Masson replied. "I was very much the layman."

"All I did was carry out the errand to Mr. Denis that Mr. Gignac had asked me to do," Masson testified that he accepted $1,000 from Robert Gignac, his business partner, now charged with capital murder in a gangland-style slaying here last Sept. 17, to enlist help in Ottawa on Rivard's behalf.

Fast-Unto-Death Buddhists Sealed Off From Followers

SAIGON (CP) — Buddhist monks in this South Viet Nam capital today locked the gates against a restless crowd of followers trying to enter the national headquarters where five leading monks continued a protest fast-unto-death.

The hunger-strike, aimed at the downfall of Premier Tran Van Huong and his government, was in its second day.

Buddhists today withdrew from a recently formed military-civilian unity council because, they said in a statement, armed forces represented by Brig.-Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky had joined the cabinet.

A police spokesman said 15 troops were injured in rioting Wednesday in front of the Buddhist headquarters.

Four South Vietnamese generals assumed cabinet posts Wednesday after some hesitation.

Huong shuffled his cabinet Monday to include the generals, apparently in an "bid" to strengthen his hand against strong Buddhist opposition.

Gen. Ky, air force commander who was appointed youth and sports minister, told reporters he would retain his service post and probably stay in the cabinet for only two weeks.

Cabinet sources said the three other generals included in the new cabinet agreed to give up their important military posts.

Scheme Outlined For $1,500,000 Sun-Rype Plant

VERNON (Staff) — The possibility of a new $1,500,000 processing plant for Kelowna to supplement the Sun-Rype products was outlined today to the BCFGA convention in Vernon by Sid Land, president of Sun-Rype.

The new plant is strictly a commercial operation and as yet is only in the talking stage.

Mr. Land told the convention a Norman Angel of Vancouver came to the directors of Sun-Rype claiming ownership of 30 patents for products made from soft fruit.

The directors had only found out about one of these, that was cream centres for chocolate.

The directors suggested he might license Sun-Rype to produce these goods, rather than establish a new plant.

Mr. Angel and his associates were taken on a tour of the plant two weeks ago and the matter now rests with Mr. Angel, who said he would contact Sun-Rype within the next month.

The Angel plan is to raise $75,000 for an engineering survey and then raise $1,500,000 to set up the plant.

Mr. Land said he did not know whether Sun-Rype would be able to manufacture these products.

The target this year is $6,500. Last year $6,000 was collected. The entire proceeds are turned over to the polio campaign and the Kelowna group has received this contribution.

"This money comes back to Kelowna in many ways," Mr. Langford said. The foundation donates two per cent of the cost of building health centres everywhere in the province. Both the Kelowna and Vernon health centres have received this contribution.

FORMER OKANAGAN FERRY "PENDOZI" RAISED TUESDAY

E. P. Lawrence, city engineer, said four men and four pumps worked from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday in raising the motor vessel "Pendozi" from the 20 feet of water in which it sank Jan. 1. Mr. Lawrence, who suspected foul play when the vessel sank, said no evidence had yet been discovered, but he intended making a thorough checking of the boat. A diver plugged the openings first, and the only problem encountered was to empty the boat evenly so it would raise evenly.

The "Pendozi" is for sale but the city will not sell to just anyone, they must approve the use to which it would be put. Mr. Lawrence said the boat is one of the old ferries which carried traffic across Lake Okanagan between Kelowna and Westbank before the bridge was built. The city bought it for $1. The photo above shows the vessel about once more. (Courtesy photo)

Weather Office Says Snow Today

Snow, occasionally mixed with rain, is expected in the Okanagan and Vancouver weather office said today.

Cloudy today and Friday, not quite so mild tonight, winds will be light.

Temperature readings in Kelowna, Wednesday, showed a high of 38 and low of 33 with 4 of an inch of rain and snow. A year ago the high-low temperature readings were 42 and 18 with 3.9 of an inch of snow.

A "milder" weather system which moves inland over the British Columbia coast last night will cross the interior today.

Rain accompanied the system in coastal areas. Somewhat cooler unsettled weather follows in the wake of the disturbance which will continue to dominate the B.C. weather picture through Friday.

Low tonight and high Friday at Pentlitz is expected to be 28 and 35 the weather office said.

Laing Says Teamwork Great Force

VERNON (Staff) — Hon. Arthur Laing, Wednesday told the BCFGA Convention teamwork such as they exemplified is the greatest force in the present age.

"Through teamwork by agreement we have found the world of new ideas which is this age's greatest discovery," he said.

The federal minister of northern affairs and natural resources was guest speaker during the afternoon session of the three day convention being held in Vernon's Canadian Legion Hall. A total of 11 delegates are accredited but most sessions have filled the 400 seat hall.

During the day delegates accepted the British Columbia Fruit board report and the Sun-Rype Products report then discussed resolutions.

Two fruit board resolutions were carried, another was defeated.

ARTHUR LAING

RESOLUTION

In the first resolution carried the Fruit Board was asked to implement regulations concerning the grading of fruit stands minimum grades of fruit offered for sale at stands and minimum prices charged.

Another resolution passed urged the Fruit Board to implement a 1964 resolution passed by the BCFGA convention on regulating the flow of fruit from one area to another.

The defeated resolution would have dispensed with the one desk selling agency in B.C. fruit sales. Although delegates felt the resolution had much merit, there was only one vote cast for the basic principle.

RESOLUTIONS

In general resolutions passed the convention supported the completion of the Howe Pass highway and urged a thorough federal-provincial study of the farm labor situation.

Mr. Laing told the delegates and guests he had first come to the Okanagan Valley in 1936 and since then had been closely connected with the fruit industry.

He outlined the basic thinking of the federal government with respect to industry.

WEAK INDUSTRY

"No government wants to see a weak industry of any kind," he said. "Any defensive legislation that is passed is there because of this."

Sun-Rype Produces Profit Despite Increase In Expense

Expenses continued to accelerate through production last season but in spite of this fact we were able to produce a profit said Ian F. Greenwood, general manager, Sun-Rype Products, in his annual report.

"Expenses have increased in almost all areas in the past 10 years, including wages and costs, but increased efficiency through consolidation of operations has allowed us to minimize the increase," he said.

"Another major factor in increased earnings has been the development of higher earning products and minimizing tonnage in the lower priced categories."

Efficiency may be increased even more with possible implementation of a promising new method of continuous extraction of apple juice. Mention of this process was made at last year's convention and arrangements were made in August to bring in the two main components, a centrifuge and a vertical screw press, on a trial basis.

REPORT

"A report is being prepared on this matter," he said.

"We entered the 1964 season with a manageable inventory of apple juice, for the first time in eight years, and it was shipped in the opening promotion."

"Also last year, through extreme pressure to start our

New Apple Products Tested To Offset Decrease In Crop

"The record tonnage handled was 1,600,000 boxes better than the previous high. Earlier estimates for the 1964 objective had been set at 45,000 tons but we were determined to avoid dumping any fruit. The increased tonnage reduced the amount dumped to less than one per cent of the crop."

JONATHAN

"The Jonathan crop decreased in size with a total tonnage 455 below the estimate of 1,440. This was far below the 2,157 tons handled in 1963.

Apples set an alltime high in the past season with 2,700 tons being processed, mostly into concentrate," Mr. Land said. "This crop varies tremendously each year with 1,657 tons being processed from the 1962 crop and only 43 in 1963."

"The yield per ton was down in 1963, though, due to the adverse weather conditions causing the sugar content to drop."

"In regard to the cherry production over half the total tonnage of four cherries used last year for pie fillings came from this area. The price we have been paying for the past two years, 15 cents per pound, is the highest on the continent. We are unable, however, to predict the price to remain the same due to the high competition."

BCFGA Delegates Leave Decision To New Board

Quite possibly the most important action to come out of the BCFGa convention in Vernon this week was actually a decision to take no action at all. A resolution sponsored by Okanagan Mission-Kelowna calling for the obtaining of the services of a business consulting firm to assess the operation of B.C. Tree Fruits was tabled by the narrow vote of 34-33.

This resolution opened the way for discussion of the operations of the sales agency and the resignation of general manager, R. P. Walrod. During the long debate there actually was no voiced criticism of Mr. Walrod, except by inference as the agency's policies were attacked. However, the greatest barrage of criticism was directed toward the directors of B.C. Tree Fruits who had failed to take any action on Mr. Walrod's tendered resignation.

All but two of the directors of the agency spoke during the debate. They explained that the resignation had come late in the year and they felt it was a matter for action by the new board and this was important because it was imperative there be good relations between the directors and the management of the agency. It is open to question whether or not they succeeded in selling this explanation to the grower delegates. Certainly, many speakers charged the directors had been derelict in their duty and shunned their responsibility.

Had the resolution been put to a vote, it would have been difficult to judge the result of the vote. However it was never put to the vote. The turning point came when an "out" was offered.

The "out" came when a professor of marketing, with obvious reluctance, expressed his viewpoint on procedure, while always being careful to express no opinion on the merits of the resolution itself.

He said in his opinion the resolution was not a matter for the decision of the convention delegates but rather a decision that should be made by the directors of either B.C. Tree Fruits or the directors of the BCFGa.

He said he felt that in the resolution there might be overtones of criticism and this should be avoided in any such action. The hiring of a firm of business consultants in itself does not imply criticism. It is a practice very frequently adopted by large firms to obtain an independent assessment of their operations. The report of such firms are given to the directors and are generally confidential. The directors may not make public to the shareholders all or part of the report, as the directors decide. He stressed the point that such an assessment is an internal matter to improve operational procedure and, as such, is not of concern to the shareholders.

It was quickly evident that these remarks had been accepted by the delegates. Many of them were not adverse to a survey of B.C. Tree Fruits by efficiency experts, but they were not happy about the politics which appeared to be a hidden but inherent part of the resolution. They accepted the way out.

The decision does not mean that some consulting firm may not be hired. Indeed, the very closeness of the vote would seem to indicate that the new board should do just this if for no other purpose than to "clear the air". It would be an expensive method of clearing the air but probably cheap for the growers in the long run.

It must be emphasized that the resignation of Mr. Walrod was not at stake in any manner in this resolution. That presumably will be one of the first matters to concern the new board of directors of B.C. Tree Fruits and the action taken will depend upon the composition of the new board. As this is written, the new board has not yet been elected.

That new board will have two major decisions to make quickly. The one, of course, is whether it will accept or refuse to accept Mr. Walrod's resignation. The other is whether or not it will engage a business consulting firm to assess the operations of B.C. Tree Fruits.

The criticism levelled at the old board for postponing action on the Walrod resignation, suggests that the new board will lose no time in dealing with these two matters.

Roughhouse Envoys

Canada's contribution to the advancement of international goodwill would appear to be better served if we kept our hockey teams at home.

In the early days of international competition, when Canada was supreme in the winter sport, there was no trouble. Canuck players were so obviously superior to their adversaries overseas that victories were taken for granted and without protest.

There could be reasons for Canada's supremacy in amateur hockey then besides the fact that it was new to those on the other side of the pond. One of the contributory causes for the high calibre of our amateurs then could have been the financial fact that any player of talent could get more money playing as an amateur and the future in pro hockey was no better than the pay.

Today the shoe is on the other foot, as it were. Canada's "amateur" hockey teams are largely loaded with hurriedly white-washed professionals on the way up or coming down the hill.

Canada's decline in popular favor in Europe began when the Warwick brothers and their fellow-pros represented Penitence in the world championships. Putting it mildly, our representatives were not the people's choice either on the rink or in the drawing room.

There's something about a sailor all right, and especially a certain type of Canadian naval officer. He gets his British accent with his gold braid, and it is sometimes possible to detect a hidden longing for the word "Canadian" to be deleted from the name of the service.

So perhaps the rest of us should not be unduly surprised at the reaction of retired officers of high rank. They bemoan the prospect that, with the advent of the new Canadian flag, the navy's ships will no longer be authorized to fly the British White Ensign.

There, there. They needn't take it so hard. They can still go around with their handkerchiefs stuffed up their sleeves.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

COURIER "MISSED"
Sir:
Your worthy newspaper has been used unwittingly as an instrument to spread some misleading information. I refer to the large advertisement in your issue of Monday, concerning Funk and Wagnalls Encyclopedia.

Dealing with just some of the aspects here, I would like to point out that the publisher of this reference work has employed two methods to promote sales of these books.

One is to quote a recommendation out of context, thereby giving an entirely different impression to the unwary buyer. For example, the advertisement states: "Recommended by highest authority... especially for home and family use." By itself that reads mightily influential, doesn't it? Especially when a prospective buyer looks at the fantastic which says: "Name of authority and quotation from review printed in literature available at our supermarkets."

If everyone intending to take advantage of this "unprecedented opportunity" was to seek out this brochure and unfortunately very few will be so kind to do this, the recommendation comes from the American Library Association, which endorses this set of books "for the purpose of which it is intended, that is, as a brief reference set, especially for home and family use"—in other words, where detailed information is not a prime need.

So you see, by taking the phrase "especially for home and family use" out of context and using it alone, it gives a different picture, doesn't it? Actually 32 other encyclopedias have been recommended by the American Library Association, but of these, only five have the seal of approval of school authorities and educational departments in the States and Provinces.

The five (with the least expensive shown first and listed in order of cost) are: World Book Company's American, Colliers and Britannica, Funk and Wagnalls does not have this approval.

The second aspect concerns a method commonly used by anybody wishing to promote sale of merchandise and all too often appears in advertisements. It functions on the premise that you can claim anything—until you can claim anything else proves false. When the constitution of independent India was adopted in 1950, a period of 15 years' grace was given to make the switchover from English to Hindi. TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Aneurysm Site Vital Factor

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:
What about an aortic aneurysm? Has this anything to do with heart attacks, or stomach trouble?—H.G.B.

An aneurysm is a weak place, or bulge, in an artery, and it can occur anywhere in the body. (Strokes sometimes are the result of aneurysms in the brain.)

An aortic aneurysm is one in the large artery leading from the heart.

Many such aneurysms (on aorta or other blood vessels) are small enough to require no treatment except to watch; but they begin to grow bigger. Many of them, in fact, are discovered quite incidentally, when X-rays have been taken for other purposes.

The problem is not related to heart disease. To take the gloomiest possible view, if the aneurysm is large and bursts, death can be very sudden.

But more realistically, many aneurysms never burst, and some of them never even cause trouble.

The problem depends, of course, on how large is the bulged, weak place, as well as its exact location. This may be in the chest or abdomen. Pressure from the bulge may cause pain in the chest, arms, abdomen or legs. Or it may cause shortness of breath, not uncommon, or a cough. Remember that the aorta is a large vessel which loops over the heart, and then sends one big branch downward to serve the lower part of the body.

In the past, physicians did what they could to prevent rupture of such an aneurysm, and otherwise took various steps to ease the discomforts, whether actual pain or coughing or difficulty in breathing, if that happened to be involved.

Today surgery can take positive action in a good many cases. Some sufferers don't need it. But in a certain number it is now possible to use various materials to strengthen the weakened place.

You may have heard about "dissecting aneurysms." An artery has three walls—inner, outer, and middle. With an aneurysm, the weakness is in the middle wall. If blood gets between the inner and outer layers, it gradually works its way along the artery, separating the layers. So, of course, a doctor is always on guard against that occurrence.

Dear Dr. Molner: About two years ago I lost my baby. I was only about a month and a half along and didn't have any trouble, so I never went to the doctor. Since then I have not been able to become pregnant. Could this have anything to do with it, and should I have a D. and C.—MRS. F.O.

Medical attention always should follow a miscarriage, whether you think you need it or not. Yes, this can prevent future pregnancies. A D. and C. (dilation and curettage, or "scraping") of the interior of the uterus may be required, but let your doctor decide.

OTTAWA REPORT

Tories And Grits Both Face Posers

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

Public attention is focused upon the leadership problem of the governing Conservative Party, possibly whetted by a recent poll which found 79.8 per cent of Canadians anticipating that 1965 will see John Diefenbaker finally disappear from the decline started by cabinet disenchanted 27 months ago.

But what of the Liberal Party? It too has its problems at and near the top.

There are many Liberals, some even inside the House of Commons, who still rue the defeat of Paul Martin at the leadership convention seven years ago. The old pro, now almost exiled above the political arena, would never have allowed a Liberal Government to get into its present mess, they argue, and he could ably extricate it now.

CANADIAN ROULETTE
The talk of "house-cleaning" is widespread but nebulous. But there is a serious malaise even within the Liberals about the present make-up and conduct of the cabinet—as there has been almost from the day of its creation.

First it was Finance Minister Walter Gordon who was the target of criticism, but his obvious ineptitude and the political blunder he made in his first budget have taken the heat off him. Then the pistol pointed at Health Minister Judy LaMarsh, but Judy's poll rating as the most successful cabinet minister has even been her above the political things and the journalistic attacks, which have now found other targets.

The "Quebec Wing" of the cabinet is collectively under several clouds—for officers of bitches and threats of corruption, alleged for privileged and unusual techniques of non-factual thinking, and for squandering the immigration ministry.

Northern Affairs Minister Art Eggar, as usual, and perhaps a minister as well as a politician, has been questioned in the House, and Minister MacLean has been questioned in the House of Commons. One of the most able and popular junior ministers in the St. Laurent administration, have retired from the cabinet in speculation.

But Prime Minister Pearson, it appears, is loyal to his colleagues. As far as he is concerned, there will be no requested retirement, but only retirement at request. And there are three ministers in line to be requested to retire on certain terms. But Pearson would be happy to be promoted to the Senate. Maurice Lamontagne would enjoy some non-political job such as permanent chairman of a Canadian Cultural Commission, Immigration Minister Pearson, at 41, too young and healthy to retire at top of any ladder, would nevertheless accept appointment as Canadian ambassador to France.

Walter Gordon, it is being said, looks with envy on the post-political career of George Drew. He would like to be Canadian High Commissioner to Britain, and possibly, as he knows, up that ladder, by appointment as governor general. As Minister Pearson's close friend, and the chief architect of Liberalism's post-war revival in Ontario, anything might happen.

The London post is now filled by an ex-minister who sat under three prime ministers, Lord of Chevening. He really wanted to be ambassador to France anyway, and he finds the prestige post in Britain costly, although he probably matches George Drew's free residence plus $18,000 salary plus $24,120 tax free expense allowance. He might be found a bit "Waters-type" post in industry—$18,000 per year as president of a big corporation.

If Santa Claus could give not only a flag for Christmas, but also these sugar plums to his colleagues, there may yet be the substantial cabinet changes which the parliamentary machine this festive Christmas seemed to demand.

India Still Needs English Language

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Hindi will replace English as India's official language Jan. 26.

But there will be no overnight abolition of English. As a concession to the 200,000,000 Indians whose mother tongue is not Hindi, the Indian government has agreed to treat English as an "Associate Language" for official purposes for as long as necessary.

This assurance has pacified, at least temporarily, the ruffled feelings of the non-Hindi speaking Indians from South India, West Bengal and Maharashtra state.

These people fear the abolition of English may put them at a disadvantage in employment and other opportunities of advancement.

When the constitution of independent India was adopted in 1950, a period of 15 years' grace was given to make the switchover from English to Hindi. During this time, those who did not speak Hindi were

Paris Digs Deep For Parking Space

PARIS (AP)—Paris is burrowing underground near some of its most famous landmarks in a seemingly futile effort to find enough space to park its cars.

About 1,500,000 cars are registered in the Paris region and the number is gaining 120,000 a year. Another 250,000 cars enter the city every day. To keep traffic moving, more and more streets have been made no-parking zones, adding to the already desperate problem of finding a place to park.

Unoccupied lots in the centre of the city which could be used for parking do not exist. The centre of Paris is a jumble of offices, dwelling apartments and stores. Most of the buildings date from the days of horse-

Average Aussie A Bit Overweight

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—The average Australian man, aged 20 to 50, is from 10 to 27 pounds overweight, says an article in the Australian Medical Journal.

The article, written by Dr. H. M. Whyte, director of medical research at Sydney Hospital, said that in 20 years, through over-eating and lack of exercise, the average Australian male puts on more than 14 pounds.

Whyte said that a daily excess food intake of only a little scrap of butter, or a sprinkle of sugar, a dash of milk or a lettuce leaf could cause overweight.

"The daily deficiency of activity which would be responsible is equivalent to sitting instead of standing for half an hour, or foregoing a walk of 200 yards or changing to a car with automatic drive, or using an electric typewriter instead of a standard one for half an hour," he said.

drawn carriages when no provision was made for garages.

The result is that streets are lined with cars day and night. Finding an empty space is a round-the-clock problem.

Within the last year a 1,000-car garage has been opened under the broad esplanade that leads up to the gilt-domed Invalides, where Napoleon is buried. Cultural Minister Andre Malraux now would like to install a formal garden on the open space that covers the garage.

Buildings and mechanical shovels are opening a big trench under the Avenue George V, just off the Champs-Elysees, for a multi-level garage. Projects are under study for underground parking areas under the Avenue Foch, near the Arc de Triomphe, the square facing Notre Dame Cathedral, the Tuileries Gardens leading up to the Louvre, and the Bourne (stock exchange).

Patterned Pelts Are Latest Fur Fashion Craze in Paris

PARIS (Reuters) — Printed that the epitome of bad taste is to wear a fur coat over a printed dress, are among the strongest partisans of printed skins are printed with textile patterns in bold, multi-colored designs. The latest craze in Paris is the printed fur, which has earned the nickname of "Paco" after the French designer Paco Rabanne. No new idea has so revolutionized the French fur industry. The new collection, featuring 200 fur models, is the largest in Paris. Once, a fur automatically became a coat, a jacket, or a Paradoxically, many smart Frenchwomen, who consider Paris furriers, with Christian

Dior, Pierre Balmain, Revillon, and Chouhert leading the field, have evolved sophisticated fur fashions. There are fur pants, fur shirts, fur skirts, and fur hostess clothes. Balenciaga reached the pinnacle of luxury with his floor-length dressing gown made of white mink or chinchilla. PATTERNED PELTS Now, comes printing. Fur kerchiefs and scarves come printed in swirls, geometric patterns. Another novelty is an ankle-length hostess skirt made of black and white printed giraffe skin. Chouhert's furs are waterproof. Mink, otter, beaver, and leopard have suddenly acquired all the practicality of an umbrella, without in any way changing their original aspect. Roger Vivier, the shoe designer, is showing a collection of handbags and footwear in the same seemingly fragile pelts. Money And Leisure Time Over-rated Commodities

Dear Ann Landers: Our five children are in bed and I am passing him up. Every evening, looking at a huge basket of just as I'm putting on my hat and trying to sneak out the door, he rushes over and says, "I'd sure like a ride home." I have no reason to refuse to take him except that he gets on my nerves. I enjoy listening to the news on the car radio and I am deprived of this pleasure because this guy has captured me. What can I do short of getting mad? Or am I a housewife? Dear Ann: You do not owe this man transportation, but in exchange for the convenience of riding with you he owes you silence if you want it. Tell Old Clattertrap the next time he rides with you that you want to listen to the radio and to save it for later. If he talks anyway, detour around his car, stay in the morning and take another way home at night. TIRED OF LISTENING TO HIM BRAG. You'll have to agree that one thing can be said for this "conceited jackass": he doesn't talk about other people.

Dear Ann Landers: Whenever my mother-in-law comes to our house she wants to feed our 18-month-old son, Bobby, doesn't like vegetables. My mother-in-law is determined to "teach him" to like them. She says, "Look, Bobby, Nanna likes carrots." Then she put a spoonful of carrots into her mouth, using Bobby's spoon. The next spoonful goes into Bobby's mouth—same spoon. I've asked my husband to speak to his mother about this dirty habit. He says I'm too finicky—that she did the same with her six kids and nobody died. Am I overreacting as my husband says? Or should he say something to her?—BATTILING BERTHA.

Dear Bert: Perhaps your mother-in-law's six children survived in spite of an unhygienic upbringing—in an amazing number of kids do. While most children would not die from sharing, Granny's spoon I was in for it. He talks to me, it is nonetheless an unhygienic habit—and if your husband refuses to speak to his mother about it you should. I thought a cup a week ago and thought "Howdy, Puss." Hand "Nanna" a second spoon of old Clattertrap, but no when she feeds Bobby and ask such luck. When I see him her to please use it.

You Can Wear Jewelled Pins Most Any Way

TORONTO (CP) — Your own imagination is an interesting way to wear your jewelry.

Take pins, for example. It used to be that you wore them only on lapels or high on the bodice of a dress. Now you can wear them just about anywhere on your costume, even as hair adornments.

Pins can be used as attention-getters. This is particularly true of gold pins, this season's big fashion trend. Let a smart, bold pin accentuate the new flared skirt by placing it, slightly to one side, at the top of the flounce. Emphasize a decollete neckline with a dramatic pin. A front plunge can be even more seductive if it ends with an eye-catching glimmer pin. A plunging back neckline or a bare back can gain more attention with an interesting pin at the terminal point or waistline. Strategically pinned high on the bosom, a pin can add significance to the new high-waisted look. It can mark equally well a natural or lowered waistline. For an unexpected touch, you can use a pin as a sort of shoulder epaulet. Or it can be placed to define an elbow-length sleeve or accent a wrist-length cuff. Another interesting effect is to snuggle a pin just under the notch of a collar so that it seems to peek out. This is especially smart with the new blazer suit.

First United Church Scene Of Childress-Hearn Wedding

The altar of the First United Church was graced with white chrysanthemums and the pews ends were marked with white satin bows centred with deep red sweetheart roses, made by Mrs. Helen Cooper, for the wedding of Eileen Catherine Hearn of Kelowna and Robert L. Childress of Seattle, Washington. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eva Childs of Okanagan Centre and the late Malcolm McDonald of Winnipeg. Reverend and Sidney Pae officiated at the wedding ceremony and Mrs. Eileen Tregown the soloist sang "Day of Golden Promise" by Bernard Hamilton, accompanied by Dr. Ivan Beadle at the organ. The bride, who was given in marriage by A. Childs, was charming in a gown of soft blue satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and rounded neckline, skirting to a square at back. Her sleeves were three-quarter length, her skirt bell-shaped and on the appliques of lace centering the front of her gown were set three small matching bows. She wore a chapel veil of matching blue lace held in place with a rhinestone tiara and silver slippers completed her costume. She carried a bouquet of small pink sweet heart roses. For something old, something borrowed, something blue, the bride wore a string of pearls given to her some time ago by her mother, a ring borrowed from her mother, and a blue lace garter made by Mrs. J. Cooper. Mrs. Frank A. Cadlock of Kelowna was her sister's matron of honor and Kevin Cooper, godson of the bride, was the young ring-bearer. Mrs. Cadlock was charming in a pink dress styled with a lace bodice, full skirt and short sleeves. Her dress was a white velvet bow trimmed with net and she carried a bouquet of deep red roses. Acting as best man was Frank A. Cadlock of Kelowna, and ushering the guests to their seats were Robert Manchester of Victoria and Brian D. Hearn of Kelowna. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Cadlock, Aberdeen Street, where the mother of the bride, wearing a blue two-piece crepe dress, a blue and brown feathered hat trimmed with veiling, and a corsage of white gardenias, assisted in receiving the guests. The bride's table was decorated with pink and white streamers and was centred with a beautiful wedding cake flanked with a bowl of red roses set at either end of the table. Robert Manchester of Victoria proposed the toast to the bride, which was duly answered by the groom, and a buffet supper was enjoyed. Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. R. Manchester of Victoria, Brian Hearn, son of the bride and his daughter Lisa Ann from Calgary, Alberta. Telegrams of congratulations were received from Bracebridge, Ontario; Winnipeg, Manitoba; Regina, Saskatchewan; Edmonton, Alberta; and Spokane, Washington. Before leaving on her honeymoon to San Francisco, Eugene, Oregon, and Portland the bride changed into a white model suit accented with good accessories and a Norwegian blue fox cape. Mr. and Mrs. Childress will reside in Seattle, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Trego announce the engagement of their only daughter, Hazel Muever, to Robert John Bouchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Bouchard of Kelowna. Wedding plans to be announced.

Voltaire Loses Street In Algiers

ALGIER, Algeria (Reuters) — Voltaire has lost his street in Algiers. So have Cervantes, Giuseppe Garibaldi and Balzac. The Rue de France is no more, and even Jean of Arc has had to give up her square. These roads and squares are among 254 streets, boulevards and squares in Algiers which have been renamed. Their new names commemorate Algerian war heroes who died during the struggle for independence from France. They are the latest in a series of city streets to change their names since the Algerian government, 2 1/2 years ago, launched a campaign to rename all principal roads, avenues, squares, monuments and public gardens and parks in the country.

Children Of India Die From Hunger

Sixty per cent of India's teeming millions make less than $3 per month. The small daily wages earned by labour are thinly stretched to buy foodstuffs to provide two meagre meals a day for an average family. Color Label Stuck On Fast To Gordon Walker's Campaign

LONDON (AP)—Like a label that won't wear off, the color problem clings to Foreign Secretary Gordon Walker as he fights to get into Parliament.

Through two campaigns, he has been haunted by a provocative label—"If you want a nigger neighbor, vote Labor." The theme comes up again as Gordon Walker campaigns for the House of Commons seat for the grumpy London suburb of Leyton. Voting is Thursday.

British political tradition requires that Gordon Walker must get into Parliament if he is to continue as foreign secretary.

In last October's general election he was defeated in the parliamentary district of Smethwick—an English Midlands locality heavily settled by non-white immigrants from the Commonwealth.

It was at Smethwick that the "nigger neighbor" slogan first cropped up.

A flood of leaflets bearing this slogan appeared in that district. Gordon Walker's Conservative opponent, Peter Griffiths, denied any hand in them.

Laborites agreed that members of a tiny fascist group actually sponsored the leaflets. But they accused Griffiths of playing heavily on white prejudice—a charge Griffiths denied.

LOST LABOR SEAT
In the voting, Gordon Walker lost what was previously been a Labor district, largely because of the racial issue, political sources agreed.

Harold Wilson, becoming prime minister as a result of the general election, referred to Griffiths as a "parliamentary lecher."

Despite Gordon Walker's defeat, Wilson went ahead with his original intention to make him foreign secretary. A second chance for a Commons seat came when Reginald Sorensen, 72-year-old Labor member who had held Leyton by a 1,000-vote margin, accepted elevation to Opening lead—king of spades. When declarer has a very long suit to run, he can frequently exert sufficient pressure on one of his opponents to gain himself a vital trick. Sometimes the trick gained matures because one particular defender finds it impossible to withstand the pressure being brought to bear against him, at other times the defenders find it excruciatingly difficult to discard correctly because they do not know precisely which suit to guard or ungaurd. It is a hard result being that declarer in many of these cases winds up making an undeserved contract.

West in the meantime had come down to the KJ of hearts and ace of clubs. When declarer now led the queen of clubs, West was forced to win it with the king and return a heart. When he led the jack, declarer played low from dummy and thus took the last two tricks with the queen and ace of hearts. As a result of the end-play, South made five diamonds doubled.

West could have defeated the contract only by opening a low spade and getting a heart return from East. It is a hard result being that declarer in many of these cases winds up making an undeserved contract.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Yesterday's restrictions where finances are concerned continue, so watch that budget! The day will be a good one, however, for those whose major interests are along artistic and creative lines.

Community affairs are also favored.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates some interesting prospects ahead. They are, specifically: good job and financial opportunities and chances of making successful business transactions in late April, mid-May, August and November.

opportunities to travel during the next 10 days, in April and August, and interesting romantic situations between now and Feb. 1, in April, June and July.

Just a few words of admonition, however. Don't offend gains made during propitious periods by indulging in extravagance or speculation, especially in June and November. As you'll notice, your good periods are spaced a bit apart and carelessness with funds in the interim could prove upsetting to the year-long budget. Also, where your personal life is concerned—and this year should prove an exceptionally happy one—don't offset planetary benefits by quarreling or losing control of emotions—especially next November.

Manufacturers Offer Views On Contributory Pensions

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Manufacturers' Association Wednesday urged a re-opening of negotiations in an attempt to produce a single federal-administered contributory pension plan embracing all provinces.

The association in a brief submitted to the joint parliamentary committee studying the Canada Pension Plan bill, said a centrally-administered plan is needed to ensure economy of operation, ease in administration and public acceptance. The bill has received approval in principle in the House of Commons.

Although the Canada and Quebec plans have been developed by Quebec will administer its own contributory plan. No other province has given definite notice it will set up its own plan, but Premier Robert has said Ontario might.

"It is the firm position of the association that differences should not exist between and among provinces in the type, extent of coverage, administrative interpretations and application," the association brief said.

The association also said the proposed benefits under the Canada plan, coupled with the favorable old-age security plan, meant "somebody benefited" what the association regards as

"Friendship With Aides" Brought Contract Gains

MONTREAL (CP) — Guy Masson, told the Dorion judicial inquiry Wednesday that his friendship with a ministerial aide helped him get construction contracts and on one occasion gain access to a dinner party intended only for executive assistants of cabinet ministers at Ottawa.

The heavy-set ex-organizer of the Liberal party for Chambly, Que. elaborated for six hours on his earlier testimony that he accepted $1,000 to look in Ottawa for possible means of freeing Lucien Rivard. Rivard has been held in Bordeaux, France since June 19, pending extradition to the United States as a fugitive.

Masson, 55, said he was commissioned by his business partner, Robert Gignac, to make known to his political contacts that $50,000 to $60,000 was available for the Liberal campaign fund if Rivard were not extradited.

He said he relayed that information to his "intimate" friend Raymond Denis, then executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay. He said Denis, who left his ministerial post Oct. 1, referred him to Liberal party treasurer Senator Louis P. Gelin, who refused to last April.

Denial Of Offer To Pick Up Bill At Swank La Touraine Restaurant

He denied he had offered to business associate of Rivard to pick up the bill for the dinner at the swank La Touraine Restaurant.

Mr. Masson, who said his business was to know all people who have a close or a remote connection with construction, testified he had succeeded in obtaining contracts through his association with Denis.

However, Denis had not provided contracts personally. He had merely introduced the business representative to other people, like engineers.

He said he had regular contact with "five or six" federal departments of which defense construction and public works were two.

Prior to March, Masson had worked for Bente Construction, a Montreal company specializing in the erection of concrete pylons. His position had been vice-president and chief of public relations.

After that he became associated with Gignac who was supplying most of the funds for two companies headed by Masson.

REJECTS IDEA Masson rejected the suggestion to counsel for the New Democratic Party that the only reason Gignac wanted him as a partner was for his "powerful political contacts."

He said Gignac also was a

EARNINGS IN 1964 RETURN $2,400,000 TO POOLS FOR 59,000 TONS PROCESSED BY SUN-RYPE LTD.

(Continued From Page 3) Apple juice quotations were taken out of the U.S. and fruit shipments confined to domestic markets. We are presently waiting clarification on this matter.

The earnings last year amounted to $2,400,000 being returned to the pools, an average of $40.60 for the 59,000 tons processed.

Total expenditures for building amounted to $163,000, including new warehouse and office space, a reception area and a new floor in the production area at the Kelowna plant. Over $50,000 was paid for outside storage during the year and it is estimated 32 months of storage in the new space will compensate for the 1964 expense.

"There are no building projects planned for 1965," the annual report of the committee, headed by Mr. Clarke, chairman, said.

There will be three pools for delivery of Weatly apples this year.

Estimation of crops has raised considerable discussion on the committee. Mr. Clarke suggested a different approach be made to improve the present method.

EARLY POOL The committee has decided on an early pool with a cut-off date at the discretion of the sales agency, followed by a second pool with a cut-off date at the discretion of B.C. Tree Fruits and Sun-Rype Products and a third pool which would pay fruit prices only.

The early season pool would pay 20 cents more per box than the season pool. Sun-Rype have reported they will need a minimum of 30,000 boxes of Weatly apples to make the early pool worthwhile.

There has been lack of cooperation in delivery of apples for the quota system. Mr. Clarke said the quota system was not a success.

Another Winston S. Churchill Follows Winnie's Footsteps

LONDON (AP) — While Sir Winston Churchill, 81, struggles for life, another Winston Churchill, 29, is showing signs of a vigorous and adventurous journalism and political engagement.

The younger Churchill is Sir Winston's grandson, named Winston Spencer, named after his grandfather. His father is Sir Winston's son, Randolph.

Young Winston is 24 and already making a career as a freelance writer and broadcaster. He aims eventually to specialize in political journalism and move from Fleet Street into the House of Commons.

That, as the young Winston points out, is the way his grandfather started. In 1895, at the age of 21, Sir Winston already was in Cuba reporting the revolt against the Spaniards.

"A famous name can be terrible if you are lousy," he said. "The comparisons would be unbearable. But if you are any good, it helps."

WORKED IN NEW YORK Winston's first practical newspapering came in New York. In 1939, on vacation in America from Oxford University, he worked for two months with the

Romania Shoves Out Soviet Hand And Reaches For Western Help

BUCHAREST (AP) — Romania is firmly pushing aside the strong hand of Russian troops on her industry and society, and reaching for help and support in the West.

Next to Yugoslavia, Romania has taken the most independent stance of any of the East European states.

However, the country doesn't intend to try to break out of the Soviet orbit, even though delegations have headed West in recent months to establish political, cultural and business contacts.

The United States has lowered some of its trade barriers with the immediate result that American companies have agreed to build two new factories in Romania, the first in years.

Last April the Romanian Communist party announced determination to take an independent line in foreign policy.

The party said a socialist state must protect its sovereignty and keep in its own hands all the "levers" for managing its own economic and social life.

In 1952, the party leaders expelled a Moscow-trained crew

Subandrio Seeks Aid From China

He said he wants to find out how much aid China would give Indonesia if it is attacked by Britain because of the Malaysian dispute.

Indian Soldiers Die In Kashmir Clash

RAWALPINDI (AP) — Two Indian soldiers were killed in a fresh clash along the Kashmir cease-fire line, the Pakistani government said Wednesday.

Pigs Point To Healthy Hearts

TORONTO (CP) — Pigs are pointing the way to a possible new medical assault on human heart disease, a conference on medical research was told here today.

Experiments on pigs at the University of Toronto and Ontario Veterinary College in Guelph indicate that some kinds of heart attacks and strokes result from passing upsets in the blood and may be reversible before they kill.

Conventional anticoagulant drugs, designed to combat blood clots before they fatally damage the heart or brain, are not the answer to these other types of blood disorders, Dr. J. F. Mustard told the annual meeting of the Canadian Society for Clinical Investigation.

Dr. Mustard, working with Toronto colleagues H. C. Rowell and G. A. Robinson here and in Guelph, studied the mechanism of transient blood disorders in pigs and confirmed the long-held suspicion that they can produce heart malfunction.

In autopsies on thrombotic victims, doctors find evidence of clots in only about half the cases. The trouble in patients without evidence of clots may result from the temporary formation in the blood of clusters of particles known as platelets.

The platelets, normal mechanisms used by the body to repair blood vessels, may congregate and have the effect of a clot in damaging an organ before they disperse again.

Injecting the pigs with substances that cause clusters of platelets, Dr. Mustard and his colleagues found symptoms of thrombosis in blood vessels and the heart even though the clots broke up quickly. In some cases, scars were left on the heart muscle.

Dr. Mustard said clustering of platelets in areas where blood vessels are restricted may cause transient heart attacks and strokes or temporary blindness.

Discovery of compounds to combat the action of platelet clustering would give doctors a method of treating some patients who fail to respond to the anticoagulant drugs, Dr. Mustard said.

Minor Hockey Week in Canada starts Jan 23

PETER'S PATTERN

with PETER MUNOZ

Each Saturday morning, before dawn, there starts a flurry of activity that continues almost unabated through the entire day. There is the happy sound of exuberant young voices, the noisy chatter of boys with a job before them.

This is the scene at Memorial Arena starting at 6 a.m. when the first shift arrives to don their blades and kick off another day's round of minor hockey in Kelowna. And the event is repeated other times during the week whenever the Kelowna and District Minor Hockey Association has been able to spare time for its over 500 participants.

MINOR HOCKEY WEEK STARTS JANUARY 23

These enthusiasts range from as young as five to 18 years of age. . . and they play in divisions according to age brackets. The youngest are Pup A, from any age below and up to eight years. Pups B, 8 to 10; PeeWees, 10 to 12; Bantams 12 to 14; Midgets, 14 to 16 and Juveniles, 16 to 18.

All these youngsters and many thousands of others across this great land of ours celebrate Minor Hockey Week starting Saturday. In our area it means a stepped up promotion of minor hockey to increase public awareness of the service it performs is not only providing a healthy recreational outlet for these boys but it should and can provide character building, teamwork and perhaps most of all sportsmanship.

GIVE YOUR BOY AN AUDIENCE—BE A SPECTATOR

In Kelowna the week culminates with a gigantic Jamboree on Saturday, January 30. This is when the boys take over the arena and serve up everything from assorted hockey matches to skating events and other surprises. The only ingredient they can't supply themselves is fan support. This is where you come in even if you aren't the parent of a boy playing hockey, but essentially if you are.

HELP DEVELOP YOUR SON, THE GAME, AND YOURSELF

Shades of the past . . . For this year's Jamboree climax, the Kelowna and District Minor Hockey Association have lined up a top feature event. At 8:30 p.m., members of the famed Kelowna Packers will once again step onto the ice surface at Memorial Arena to face the Kelowna Juvenile All-Stars.

Familiar faces in the Packers' lineup will bring nostalgic memories to many fans and harking back to last year's old-timers game in Penticton, I remember many of these ex-seniors still have legs.

TO KEEP A BOY OUT OF HOT WATER—PUT HIM ON ICE

Actually, they will jump the gun a little on the opening of Minor Hockey Week. Friday night, between the first and second periods, Pat Graves' Kelowna PeeWee All-Stars will serve up some pint-sized hockey thrills to spectators at the Buckaroos-Juveniles OJHL contest here. The youngsters will also seek support of their Jamboree from the fans in the form of purchasing tickets. . . use it Jan. 30 . . . they don't just want your money . . . they want you!

Sandford Takes Cut On New Giants' Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pitcher Jack Sanford became the second San Francisco Giant Wednesday to sign his contract for the 1965 baseball campaign. The right-hander took a $50,000 salary cut from the $38,000 he received in 1964.

Sanford, who will be 36 in May, missed half of last season because of a massive arterial block around his bicep. Doctors said no blood could reach his hand when he lifted his arm over his head because of the block.

Willie Mays, the only other Giant who has signed, put his name on a $105,000 contract last week.

WELSH EARN TIE

ZARAGOZA, Spain (Reuters)—A magnificent defensive effort here Wednesday night by Cardiff City of Wales completely frustrated the talented Zaragoza attack and earned the Welsh club a 2-2 tie in the first leg of their European Cup Winners' Cup quarter-final.

BUT DIDN'T HAVE THE HEART TO SHOW UP OTHERS

Sandy Felt He Had Goods

BOSTON (AP)—Ever get the idea you could do better than some of the players on your favorite sports team—that you should be in the lineup?

Then think kindly of Sandy. He wanted to help Boston Bruins, last in the National Hockey League with 10 victories in 41 games.

Coach Milt Schmidt said Sandy, 30 and slightly balding, turned up at his office last Monday.

"I want a tryout with the Bruins," he told Schmidt.

"I've seen your team," Schmidt said. "I can make it. I can skate faster than anyone

Late Tally Cracks Tension

Wally Boyer's unassisted goal at the 18:11 mark of the third period won a tense American Hockey League game for Rochester Americans Wednesday night, 1-0, over Buffalo Bisons.

The victory widened Rochester's lead in the Western Division to 12 points over Buffalo.

The shutout marked the third time Rochester goalie Jerry Cheevers blanked the Bisons this season and tied him with Buffalo's Ed Chadwick for the AHL shutout lead with four each.

In other games, Pittsburgh Hornets beat Springfield Indians 3-2 and Hershey Bears and Cleveland Barons played to a 2-2 overtime tie.

Sound-Shooter Hunting Menace

VANCOUVER (CP)—A hunter who shoots at sounds has something in common with a motorist who jumps stoplights—both are likely to hit something and be sorry for it.

The comparison is made by Kenneth Hodgson, president of the British Columbia Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, discussing proposed provincial legislation.

Recreation Minister Kenneth Kerman says the provincial government plans to amend the Game Act in an effort to legislate against careless hunters.

He concedes that the most common of all careless acts is shooting at sounds in the bush without being sure what the target is. And while it is difficult to prove an offence of this sort, he says, there's no question that anyone who does it is not fit to have a hunting licence.

Andy Hault, 40-year-old carriage-linen manager in neighbouring Burnaby, is a living argument against such shooting. His hunting companion mistook him for a moose, fired two shots at him and hit him in the shoulder.

French Skier Scores In Women's Races

SCHIRNUS, Austria (AP)—Marie-Louise Gotschel, a 19-year-old student from Val d'Isere, France, gained her second victory in the three-day women's slalom races Wednesday when she beat all rivals by more than one second in the giant slalom.

Miss Gotschel, 1964 Olympic slalom medalist, won the special slalom Tuesday. She sped down the icy, 1,050-meter Gafanz course, skied out with 47 gates, in 1:34.81 in the giant slalom.

STRASBOURG, France (Reuters)—Strasbourg and Barcelona played to a 0-0 tie Wednesday in the first leg of their third-round series for the Inter-Cities Fairs Soccer Cup.

Leafs Crumble Bower Grumbles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sooner or later, a traded player comes back to haunt his former National Hockey League club.

Billy Hicke did it to Montreal Canadiens less than two weeks ago when he scored three goals in a Saturday night game to lead New York Rangers to a 6-3 victory at the Forum.

It was Dick Duff's turn Wednesday night. His effort was less spectacular, but his second-period goal in Toronto stood up as the winner in a 2-1 decision for the Canadiens over the Maple Leafs, his former teammates.

In the only other game Wednesday night, Chicago Black Hawks outshot Boston Bruins 40-17 in romping to a 7-1 victory over the visitors.

Canadians' win preserved their two-point lead over Chicago atop the NHL standings, while Toronto, still in third spot, dropped to three points behind the Hawks.

Duff, who came to Canadiens from New York after being traded last year by Leafs, banged his goal in at 7:50 before Toronto goalie Johnny Bower could move.

That goal must have made Bower unhappy, but he did more complaining about the opening goal, scored three minutes earlier by Claude Larose.

BOWER GRUMBLES

"I had it, and lost it, and had it again," Bower grumbled, "but it finally went over me."

The victory was the third in three starts for veteran Lorne (Gump) Worsley since being called up from Quebec Aces of the American League to sub for Charlie Hodge.

Worsley stopped 30 shots, but his shutout had was spoiled when Jim Pappin steered in count 3-1.

DICK DUFF
... Haunting Melram

Bob Baun's blueline shot at 12:17 of the second period. The goal was only the fifth that Worsley has allowed in three games. The third period, like the first, was scoreless.

Three minor penalties were assessed to each side. Montreal defenceman Jacques Laperriere drew a 10-minute misconduct when he argued about a high-sticking call.

In the sloppily played Chicago contest, Bobby Hull scored his 37th goal of the season but actually lost ground in the NHL scoring race to teammate Stan Mikita, who poked up two goals and an assist.

The other Chicago scorers were Pierre Pilote, Bill Hay, Al MacNeil and rookie Fred Stanfield. Johnny Bucky saved the Bruins from a whitewashing when he scored the first goal of the second period to make the count 3-1.

Tennis Great Drobny At 42 "Too Old" For Coaching Job

LONDON (AP)—Jaroslav Drobny, the tennis star who coached Italy to its greatest-ever achievement in the Davis Cup international competition, was rejected by Britain Wednesday as a coach.

The All-England Club told him that, at 42, he is considered too old to coach Britain's Davis Cup team.

Drobny, Wimbledon champion of 1954, was the only applicant for the vacant job of coach to the All-England Club. That includes responsibility for coaching Britain's international teams.

David Mills, club secretary, told reporters: "The committee feels that the job can only be filled by a man under 30."

Drobny coached the Italian team in 1960 when it reached the Davis Cup challenge round for the first time in its history. It was also the first time since 1961.

Pennant Talk Thaws Chicago With Romano's Return To Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—The warm glow of pennant talk has enveloped winter-gripped Chicago. It is being stoked by the return of catcher John (Honey) Romano to Chicago White Sox.

The Sox missed the American League pennant by one game in 1961.

"The White Sox may have traded themselves right into the 1965 American League pennant," says The Sun-Times.

"The White Sox, back in business behind home plate . . . immediately turned up the volume on their 1965 pennant tune," says The Tribune.

Romano, 30, was one of the main players in a three-club deal. Others were centre-fielder Jim Landis and Mike Hershberger, sent by the Sox to Kansas City Athletics, who sent outfielder Rocky Colavito to Cleveland. The Indians sent Romano to Chicago, along with outfielder Tom Agee and left-handed pitcher Tommy John.

EMBROILED IN TIF

Landis, embroiled in a tiff with management last season on team TV appearance policy, was the only remaining player of the Sox' 1959 first-winning club. But the status quo is maintained because Romano was with the Sox in 1959.

Although sharing the Cleveland catching job with Joe Accio last year and hampered by a hand injury, Romano poked 10 homers and drove in 47 runs. The Sox' three-catchers—Cam Carreon, J. C. Martin and Gerry McNetney—combined for only seven homers and 40 RBI.

GROAT SIGNS

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Shortstop Dick Groat and one of his understudies, Jerry Buchek, have agreed to contract terms with St. Louis Cardinals for the 1965 season, the National League club announced Wednesday.

Zero Hour Near For Bucks In Quest for 1st OJHL Title

The reckoning is near at hand. In a matter of days the issue will no longer be clouded. The victor will be confirmed and the order of finish in the Okanagan Junior Hockey League will be established.

Since the league began its fourth season just over three months ago, two distinct races progressively took shape. They developed into the close struggles they are prior to the wrap-up of the regular schedule this weekend.

Kelowna Buckaroos, chasing defending champion Kamloops Rockets all season, finally caught up with them two weeks ago.

FRIDAY HERE

They move into their weekend finale deadlocked at the top of the heap. The first of their two decisive games is Friday night in Kelowna's Memorial Arena at 8:30 p.m.

The following night they do a repeat on Kamloops' ice surface at the same time.

Buckaroos have lined up a chartered bus to take fan support to the probable first place deciding game at Kamloops. Those wishing to make the haul are asked to pick up their tickets from Feedham's Smoke Shop on Bernard roads from the post office, not later than Friday at 6 p.m.

The round trip will cost $3 which does not include game admission. Kelowna need three points to catch top spot.

UNKNOWN FACTOR

Bucks, already depleted by a rash of injuries, may be without the services of their league-leading netminder for this series.

Mike Gaal has been battling the flu bug for the past week and is bedded down. He played last weekend while ill. It won't be known until just before game time if he will dress but if he doesn't, Bucks will call upon service their standby Terry Lawrence, regular goalie with the Kelowna juveniles.

Terry is the fellow who speared for Penticton-Sumnerland holding Buckaroos to a pair of draws last week.

Marcello Verna, the team's top pointgetter and Garth Runzlo will both be back in action after sitting out their two-game suspensions against Penticton.

RE-FORM UNITS

The return of both centres will allow coach Don Culley to re-establish his forward units from the makeshift lines he was forced to use last week.

All four OJHL clubs will tee off in playoff action next week. Kelowna will open at home either Wednesday, Jan. 27 if they meet Penticton or Friday, Jan. 29 if Verna is the opponent.

Scoring Crown Almost Cinched; Gaal Remains Loop's Top Netminder

VERNON (CP)—With only two games left in regular play, Kamloops Rockets' star centre Eric Shishido seems assured of winning the Okanagan Junior Hockey League scoring title.

Shishido has 27 goals and 47 assists for 74 points, 22 ahead of his nearest rival, team mate Dale Sandyske who has 52 on a Kelowna's Mike Gaal is still the league's top goaltender with a 3.14 average based on 88 goals allowed in 29 games. Penticton's Sumnerland Broncos' Ernie Puskarenko is runner-up with a 4.03 mark.

West "Favors" Football Link-Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—Al McEachern, president of the Western Football Conference, said today the West is "very much in favor" of the idea of integration of the Eastern and Western Conferences, a move now officially under study.

He said "financial terms" could be the greatest stumbling block to such a move. The Eastern Conference wanted each club to handle its own expenses while the West wanted an agreement on a shared revenue basis.

But such integration, he said, would solve a lot of problems. There would be "no separate books and no separate meetings."

McEachern was commenting in an interview on disclosure of the move by CFL president Sam Berger in Ottawa who said the matter is now under study by a two-man committee.
